EXECUTIVE TERRORISM SEMINAR

"Corporations are more vulnerable to terror attacks and their consequences than ever before."

ENODO's Executive Terrorism Seminar delivers an innovative approach to risk analysis and mitigation to guard against organized terrorist and lone wolf attacks. ENODO's approach employs advanced data analytics, a proven scientific methodology, and intelligence community best practices to protect investments, infrastructure, and personnel.

"Terror attacks are increasing in frequency, magnitude, and complexity."

ENODO's Executive Terrorism Seminar:

- Delivers a proactive alternative to terrorism risk insurance
- Provides a repeatable process to protect assets from terrorist attacks
- Reduces the risk of and impact from terrorist attacks
- Increases returns on investment by decreasing insurance premium costs
- Protects firms from the volatility of terror attacks in their operating environment and safeguards their reputations

ENODO's President, industry leader in risk analysis, and internationally recognized author, Mr. James Sisco discusses how companies can identify, mitigate, and forecast terror events, through real-world experiences and contemporary case studies.

"Boards and executives have a fiduciary responsibility to shed the traditional lens through which they measure and mitigate the risk of terror attacks."
